

GIVE ME SHELTER FOR A WHILE

Give me shelter for a while I just need a break
Keep me warm with a smile before I overtake
Cause my life's something hard to guess
And I really need a rest

Take my hand by the time I can hardly stand
Tell some story again, hope you'll see there end
'Cause I feel I'm much too young
There's somewhere I must be wrong

I'll bring you places where nobody goes
Whispering my secrets some nobody knows
And I'll never lie I swear
Just believe I really care
Believe I really care

Please don't run away
If you see me down a lonely avenue
I'll have something to say
It would be the last place I'll be waiting for you
And maybe the first day I'll be loving you

But you seem so down and I feel too high
I'm trying to shine but you close your eyes
And whenever my sky is blue
You're still asking if it's true

While you let me fly without even believe
I'm asking myself what else can I give
There are words that must be good
You don't want to hear what you should

It's the end of the while, it's the end of the break
I really have to go, I need to overtake
And I feel I'm much too young
And I really need a song
